HUMAN RIGHTS : ONE ARTICLE / ONE FILM

March |October 2019

First competition for short fiction about the Human Rights

The Organization “France fraternités” and the EMC Cinema School are putting together the first competition for short fiction about the Human Rights.

The UDHR has been written 70 years ago. Nevertheless, the values it carries are as vivid and modern as ever. Still today, the 30 articles of the UDHR represent as many scenarios possible. This competition has the ambition to bring the 18/25-year-old generation to introduce those articles in a contemporary story.

Fictions, cartoons, poetic or documentary essays; all films submitted must have a maximum duration of 4 minutes and have to be produced between March 2019 and October 2019.

This European competition is open to all major European schools and higher education institutions.

Schools, Establishments and Institutions can apply.

Students can also apply individually.

FILMS PRESENTATION and Awards Ceremony will be held by a Jury bringing together major humanitarian actors, and audiovisual professionals.

This Awards Ceremony will be a very special evening event. It will take place late October 2019.

EMC, for 27 years, has been educating future film and television technicians (Directors of Photography, Film Directors, Fake Editors, Sound Engineers and Production Managers).

All EMC students benefit from a special status, as they alternate 2 weeks working in a company and 2 weeks studying at school, all year long.

EMC school is very committed to solidarity values. The school often invites its students to brainstorm about solidarity’s principles and self-commitment in nowadays society.

Organizing this competition by supporting France fraternités’ approach is important as an action for this concern.
